

CHAPTER 515.

An act prohibiting the catching or taking of any invertebrate or specimen of marine plant life within a certain described portion of fish and game district number nineteen, other than by officers, employees, and students of the University of California for scientific purposes, making every violation of certain provisions of this act a misdemeanor, providing for the punishment thereof and providing for the disposition of fines imposed or collected on account of said violation.

[Approved by the Governor May 27, 1929 In effect August 14, 1929]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Any person who catches or takes within that portion of fish and game district number nineteen hereinafter specified and described any invertebrate or specimen of marine plant life shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than three hundred dollars ($300), or by imprisonment for not more than thirty (30) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment; provided, however, that nothing in this act contained shall apply to any officer, employee or student of the University of California, or licensee of the regents of the University of California, while employed in catching or taking invertebrates or specimens of marine plant life for scientific purposes.
